1. Business Report for 2009

Changes in the Financial Environment

The first half year of 2009 was swayed by the continued financial crisis and frail confidence in the market. Nonetheless, boosted by monetary and fiscal economy-stimulating policies in every country and massive bailout plans from advanced economic entities, such as the U.S.A and the E.U., global economy hit its bottom during the 3rd quarter and the recovery was becoming apparent. According to the latest IMF Global Economic Prospects released on 26 January 2010, the global economy declined by -0.8%. As actual economic activities turning more robust than expected, 2010 economic growth forecast has been raised, for the fourth time, to 3.9%.

Although conditions of global finance have ameliorated further, banks' continued decrease in financial leverage has caused prolonged shrinkage of financing and hidden credit loan problems. Moreover, gigantic government deficits and debts are placing some sovereign debts under pressure and even possibly affecting regional financial stability. The economic prospect is still highly challenged.

Domestically, even though the economy during the first half year was clumsy and the typhoon catastrophe in August resulted in severe loss of people in their lives and property, fortunately, the negative effect did not heighten afterwards. As the global economy rebounded moderately, coupled with the initiation of the MOU and ECFA talks and negotiations of relevant treaties, the prospect of cross-strait relationship seems promising. Additionally, because the inventory of the information technology industry is cleared, demand rebounds, export increases month by month and the domestic demand turns up, the growth drive for the domestic economy is expected to be seen. According to Domestic Economy Prospect released in November 2009 from the Directorate General of Budget, Accounting and Statistics, the economic growth rate is estimated to be -2.53% for 2009 and 4.39% for 2010.

Organizational Change

In response to changes in the financial environment, the Bank has not only persistently and closely watched the latest global trends, but also timely reviewed the efficiency and dynamics of the organization structure. Since the reorganizing and streamlining of the headquarters' departments in July 2008, the Bank has undergone smooth operation and horizontal integration. In 2009, the Bank focused its effort on solidifying the efficiency of centralized operation support and maximizing the operating value of branch channels; complementing them with personnel rearrangement and training, it is expected that individual average contribution and overall operating efficiency can be elevated.

In respect of enhancing the efficiency of centralized operation support, the Bank's major measures were as follows: The Credit Management Department closed the Evaluation

Department in June 2009 and outsourced hostage evaluation and credit verification. The North I and North III Credit Operation Centers were consolidated into North Credit Operation Center, thereby integrating regional services in order to achieve economies of scale for operations and minimize overall operating costs.

In respect of maximizing the operating value of branch channels, the Bank has strategically selected the same service locations as Yuanta Securities' to utilize the full synergy generated from the integration of financial holdings' resources. At the end of 2009, 13 banking branches operate at the same address as Yuanta Securities' brokerage offices. Also, in order to solidify business supervision, the Bank, has fortified its timeliness in information acquisition, sensitivity to market changes and execution of decisions through branch management. Ever since the implementation of the supervision system, it has become apparent that the operations are running with expected effectiveness whether in the business development, headquarters-branch interaction or information communication fronts.

Actual Accomplishments in 2009

The performance of the Bank's branches gradually emerges as our asset quality turns sound. Major banking services are elaborated hereby:

(1) Deposits:

Apart from striving to fine-tune its deposit structure, the Bank is also taking advantage of the leading position of Yuanta Securities as the No. 1 securities broker in the market by absorbing its settlement cash and turning them into deposits as well as providing a well-rounded service to securities clients to effectively lower the capital cost of deposit. In 2009, the Bank's total deposits amounted to NT$ 293.54 billion with the share of demand deposits reaching NT$ 144.76 billion, or 49.31%, which is a rise from 35.55% in 2008.

(2) Loans:

The Bank has placed strong emphasis on the ascension of asset quality for its loan services. The corporate banking business is centered on large-sized quality clients, complemented by mid- and small- sized companies' trading financing and secured loans. The Bank focused its effort on cultivating highly contributive and interactive core clients. In terms of mortgages for consumer banking, the Bank aimed to control risks for best profit through carrying out market segmentation, developing proactively diverse channels and differentiated product marketing as well as client's risk assessment model.

In 2009, the total loans amounted to NT$ 231.43 billion, an increase of NT$ 155 million from NT$ 231.27 billion in 2008. Secured loans totaled NT$ 150.79 billion, or 65.16% of total loans. Unsecured loans amounted to NT$ 80.63 billion, or 34.84% of total loans.

(3) Foreign Exchange:

In order to further prosper cross-strait financial business and meet the demands of Taiwanese companies on capital transfer, the Bank has successfully established correspondent relationship with 32 foreign banks' mainland branches and 18 mainland banks' head offices.

In 2009, the Bank's foreign exchange business volume amounted to US$ 15.14 billion or an increase of 4.15% from US$ 14.54 billion in 2008, among which 5.71% was accounted for by import, 2.35% by export, 44.73% by outward remittances and 47.21% by inward remittances.

(4) Trust Business:

With respect of trust business, the Bank has strived to develop real estate and sales price trust services so as to broaden and solidify the foundation of its trust business. The total balance of the trust assets at the end of 2009 amounted to NT$ 78.96 billion, an increase of NT$ 20.34 billion or 34.7% from NT$ 58.62 billion at the end of 2008.

(5) Wealth Management:

The Bank has established the wealth management service to accommodate the needs of our high net worth clients, providing financial planning and asset allocation recommendations with the goal of achieving stable growth of wealth. By the end of 2009, net fee income from wealth management services amounted to NT$ 375 million, a decrease of NT$ 47 million compared to 2008 due to impact from the financial crisis.

(6) Credit Card:

In order to better serve the platinum card customers, the Bank issued the JCB platinum cards in 2009 with various promotional offers through credit card receipts in hope for the elevation of credit card issuance and consumption amounts. At the end of 2009, the Bank issued a total of 301,800 valid cards with an effective ratio of 43.76%.

Budget Utilization, Financial Status and Profitability

In 2009, net income was NT$ 5.55 billion, among which net interest income amounted to NT$ 3.60 billion and net non-interest income totaled NT$ 1.95 billion. Compared with 2008 net income of NT$ 4.31 billion, 2009 net income increased by NT$ 1.24 billion while net interest income dropped by 730 million from 2008. This was mainly because the interest rate spread decreased by 0.46% from 2008, which caused significant decrease in net interest income of deposit and loans, interest income from the placement to other banks, and interest income from securities investment. Non-interest income increased by NT$ 1.97 billion mainly because of net income from financial product trading and exchange in the amount of NT$ 819 million and NT$ 1.63 billion for goodwill impairment recognized for 2008 and reimbursement allowance allocated for disputes of structured notes of Lehman Brothers.

The bad debt expense amounted to NT$ 355 million throughout 2009, a decrease of NT$ 2.85 billion from NT$ 3.20 billion in 2008. The operating expense of 2009 numbered NT$ 4.34 billion, a decrease of NT$ 708 million from NT$ 5.05 billion in 2008. To conclude, pretax income of 2009 was NT$ 857 million and, with tax expense of NT$ 412 million, after-tax income amounted to NT$ 445 million, an increase of NT$ 3.69 billion from a loss of after-tax income of NT$ 3.24 billion in 2008.

Research and Development

- (2) Offered agency service for Taiwan Depository Receipts.
- (3) Enhanced E-Channel and constructed a brand new personal and corporate online banking platform.
- (4) In accordance with the Basel II Accord, established a credit risk management system and a market risk management system.

2. Impacts of External Competitive, Regulative and Overall Operating Environment

The third amendment to the “Accounting for Financial Instruments” in Amendment to Financial Accounting Standard No.34, announced on December 4, 2008, incorporates loans and receivables originated by the banks into the scope of the said Standards. Hence, banks are required to value loans and receivables at fair value and evaluate the impairment loss. This differs greatly from the current practices of classifying allowance for bad debts into 5 categories based on the extent of debt security and non-performing duration and accord the minimum coverage ratio of each category for the purposes of recognizing the allowance for bad debts to. As a result, the relevant procedures and systems must be adjusted accordingly. The Bank has consequently established a cross-department team to develop responsive practices.

Financial Supervisory Commission announced on March 16, 2010 the “Regulations Governing Approvals of Banks to Engage in Financial Activities between the Taiwan Area and the Mainland Area”, which loosened its previous restriction on credit granting against Taiwan businesses in China. Every well-operated bank (i.e., non-performing ratio lower than 1.5%, coverage ratio over 80% and capital adequacy ratio over 10%) may raise its upper credit limit on Taiwanese businesses in China from 30% of OBU net worth to 50%. This amendment has a positive effect on the Bank’s OBU credit service.

In preview of 2010, the Directorate General of Budget, Accounting and Statistics indicated that the economy growth rate may reach 4.39%. With a more robust recovery of the global economy, the export of domestic products may hike by quarters. The growth of private consumption and fixed investments is expected to return as Taiwan’s government adopts loose fiscal and monetary policies and stimulating measures for domestic demand and consumption, and broadens public and local construction projects. . However, Taiwan’s financial industry still has tough challenges ahead including shrinking interest spread, increasing risks and oversupply.

3. Latest Credit Ratings

Rating Agency	Date	Long-term rating	Short-term rating	Outlook
Fitch	2010.01.27	A+ (tw)	F1 (tw)	Stable
S&P	2010.01.18	BBB	A-2	Stable
Taiwan Ratings Corp.	2010.01.18	twAA-	twA-1+	Stable

According to Taiwan Ratings Corp., our commercial banking business is consistent with the strategic objectives of providing “one-stop-shopping” of Yuanta Financial Holdings. The rating also reflects various advantages of the Bank, namely, proper capital adequacy and source of capital attributable to the support of the financial holding company and liquidity structure.

Fitch also recognizes the Bank’s effort in developing its professional marketing position in wealth management through the financial holdings’ leading position and eminent foundation in Taiwan’s securities market. The Bank’s persistent improvement in profitability and asset quality will influence the Bank’s individual rating positively.

4. Business Plan in 2010 and Outlook

Although facing a fiercely competitive and harsh operating environment, the Bank still insists on effective resource integration, careful planning as well as full execution, in an effort to enhance management efficiency and risk management. Besides striving to achieve the established performance target and proactively pursue the maximum value for all shareholders, the Bank has developed its business plans for 2010 as follows:

The Bank is an important subsidiary of Yuanta Financial Holdings. In addition to providing a cash flow platform for the group, the Bank will continue to take advantage of joint marketing and integrate the resources of the group under the financial holdings structure in order to leverage its operating niches, expand customer base and business scale effectively, and maximize overall competitiveness, thereby resulting in effective cost control, stable profit growth and create profits.

Notes to Financial Statements

December 31, 2009 and 2008

(Expressed in Thousands of New Taiwan Dollars, Unless Otherwise Indicated)

I. Organization and business

- (1) Yuanta Commercial Bank Co., Ltd. (the “Bank”) was founded on January 14, 1992, and commenced operations on February 12, 1992. The Bank is principally engaged in commercial banking activities allowed by the Banking Laws of the Republic of China (R.O.C.) and in business activities authorized by the supervising authority of the central government. The Bank was authorized to be renamed Fuhwa Commercial Bank from Asia Pacific Bank in September 2002 and then authorized to be renamed Yuanta Commercial Bank from Fuhwa Commercial Bank in September 2007.
- (2) On August 1, 2002, in accordance with the Financial Holdings Company Law, the Bank became a subsidiary of Yuanta Financial Holdings Company (“Yuanta Financial Holdings”) by share exchange and was de-listed from the Taiwan Stock Exchange at the same time.
- (3) As of December 31, 2009, the Bank has a business department, trust department, foreign department, offshore banking unit, 69 branches and 1 overseas representative office.
- (4) The Bank's parent company is Yuanta Financial Holdings Co., Ltd. As of December 31, 2009, the number of the Bank's employees was 2,318.

II. Summary of significant accounting policies

The accompanying financial statements of the Bank are prepared in conformity with the “Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Public Banks”, “Business Accounting Act”, “Regulation on Business Entity Accounting Handling” and accounting principles generally accepted in the Republic of China. Due to the nature of the banking industry, assets and liabilities in the accompanying financial statements are not classified into current and non-current items. Nevertheless, accounts are properly categorized according to the nature of each account and sequenced by the liquidity of assets and liabilities. A summary of the Bank’s significant accounting policies and the measurement basis used in preparing the financial statements is as follows:

(1) Principles for preparation of the financial statements

- A. The financial statements include the accounts of the head office, its branches and offshore banking unit. All intra office balances and transactions have been eliminated for preparation of the financial statements.
- B. The Bank, for internal management purposes, should maintain separate accounts and prepare separate sets of financial statements for the entrusted funds managed by the Bank. All the entrusted assets are booked in the memo account.

(2) Foreign currency transactions

Except for accounts of its Offshore Banking Unit (OBU) that are maintained in US dollars, other accounts of the Bank are maintained in New Taiwan dollars. Those transactions denominated in foreign currencies are recorded in their original foreign currencies. All income and expense accounts denominated in original foreign currencies are translated into New Taiwan dollars at daily closing exchange rates. At the balance sheet date, accounts in all foreign currencies of the financial statements are translated into New Taiwan dollars at closing exchange rates on that date. Differences from translation are recorded as gains or losses for the period.

(3) Cash and cash equivalents

Cash on hand, foreign currency on hand, checks for clearing and due from banks are considered as cash and cash equivalents.

(4) Deposit reserve

Deposit reserve is calculated by multiplying the monthly average balances of the various deposit accounts by legal reserve ratios promulgated by the Central Bank of China (CBC). The deposit reserve account with the CBC is maintained subject to monthly reserve requirement.

(5) Financial assets and liabilities at fair value through profit or loss

- A. The Bank recognizes the purchases or sales of such financial assets, including stocks, beneficiary certificates and convertible corporate bonds denominated in New Taiwan dollars and derivative financial instruments, using trade-date accounting and of other financial assets in this category using settlement-date accounting. These financial instruments are initially recognized at fair value plus acquisition or issuance cost.
- B. Financial assets and liabilities at fair value through profit or loss include debt securities, equity shares and derivative instruments held or issued by the Bank. These financial assets and liabilities can be classified into two subcategories: financial assets and liabilities held for trading purposes and designated financial assets and liabilities at fair value through profit or loss.
- C. The main purpose for acquisition or issuance of financial instruments held for trading purposes is to be sold or repurchased within a short period. The criteria used to designate financial assets and liabilities at fair value through profit or loss are as follows:
- a. Hybrid (combined) instruments;
 - b. The designation can eliminate or significantly reduce the inconsistency of accounting measurement or recognition;
 - c. The designation is in compliance with the risk management or investment strategy specified by the Bank to evaluate the performance of assets or liabilities based on the fair values.
- D. Financial instruments at fair value through profit or loss should be measured at their fair values. Fair values are the prices of financial instruments purchased or sold in an arm's-length transaction between transaction parties. A quoted market price, if available, in an active market is the best evidence of fair value. The fair value of listed or OTC stocks is the market closing price on the transaction day. The market price of open-end funds is the net value on the balance sheet date. The fair value of local bonds is the OTC's quoted market price on the transaction day. However, if a quoted market price is not available, the fair value of financial instruments should be estimated using information available or pricing models. Estimation of fair value is usually based on recent trading prices of similar financial instruments and supplemented by related valuation methods available.
- E. The realized and unrealized gains or losses, including the amortization of discount and premium, of financial instruments at fair value through profit or loss are recognized in the income statement. Interest income (expense) and cash dividends received during the holding period are recorded under the account "gain (loss) on financial instruments at fair value through profit or loss". Cash dividends are recognized as income on the ex-dividend date or when the shareholders approve the distribution of cash dividends. Stock dividends are not recognized as income but noted as the increase of shares held.

F. A financial instrument cannot be reclassified into or out of the category of financial instruments at fair value through profit or loss after initial recognition. In accordance with explanatory letter Ji-Mi-Zih No. 296 issued in 2006 by the Accounting Research and Development Foundation, after the implementation of SFAS No. 34 "Financial Instruments: Recognition and Measurement", financial assets held for trading purposes which are provided as collateral for loans or refundable deposits should still be recognized as financial assets held for trading purposes.

(6) Available-for-sale financial assets

- A. Except for stocks recognized using trade date accounting, the Bank recognizes the purchases or sales of such financial assets using settlement-date accounting. These financial instruments are initially recognized at fair value plus acquisition or issuance cost.
- B. Available-for-sale financial assets are subsequently evaluated at fair value, and the difference between fair value and amortized cost therein is recognized as unrealized gain (loss) in the shareholders' equity adjustment account. Fair value is based on the quoted market price or amount estimated by pricing model if the quoted market price is not available. When there is an indication of impairment in the value of the available-for-sale financial assets, the impairment loss should be recognized in the income statement. The impairment losses recognized in the income statement on debt instruments classified as available-for-sale financial assets can be reversed if the fair values of such debt instruments subsequently increase. However, the impairment loss shall be reversed to the extent of the loss previously recognized in profit or loss. When available-for-sale financial assets are sold, unrealized gains or losses previously recognized in equity are recognized in the income statement. Interest income and cash dividends are recorded under "interest income" and "realized gain on available-for-sale financial assets", respectively. Cash dividends are recognized as income on the ex-dividend date or when the shareholders approve the distribution of cash dividends. Cash dividends received in the year of investment are deducted from the investment cost. Stock dividends are not recognized as income but noted as increase of shares held.

(7) Held-to-maturity financial assets

- A. The Bank recognizes the purchases or sales of held-to-maturity financial assets using settlement-date accounting. These financial instruments are initially recognized at fair values plus acquisition or issuance costs.
- B. The amortized cost, interest income or interest expense of held-to-maturity financial assets are calculated by the effective interest rate. If there is any objective evidence that the financial asset is impaired, impairment loss is recognized in profit or loss. If the fair value of the financial assets subsequently increases, and the increase can be objectively related to an event occurring after the impairment was recognized in profit or loss, the impairment loss shall be reversed to the extent of the loss previously recognized in profit or loss.

(8) Derivative financial instruments

- A. Derivative financial instruments include foreign exchange forward contracts, currency swaps, interest rate swaps, and cross currency swaps and options, which are entered into by the Bank in the foreign exchange, interest rate and capital markets. Derivative financial instruments are for trading purposes except for those accounted for under hedge accounting. Derivative financial instruments held for trading purposes include market maker, customer services, trading and other relevant activities.

- B. Derivative financial instruments held for trading purposes are evaluated at fair values. Changes in fair value are recognized in profit or loss. Fair values are the prices of the derivative financial instruments purchased or sold in an arm's-length transaction between transaction parties. A quoted market price, if available, in an active market is the best evidence of fair value; however, if a quoted market price is not available, fair value should be estimated using information available or pricing models. Estimation of fair value is usually based on recent trading prices of similar financial instruments and supplemented by related valuation methods available.
- C. Derivative financial assets and liabilities arising from different transactions can only be offset if those transactions with a legal right to offset are with the same counterparty who intends to settle the net amount of the related cash flows.
- D. An embedded derivative financial instrument should be separated from the host contract and accounted for as a separate derivative if the embedded derivative financial instrument meets the definition specified in the related Statements of Financial Accounting Standards. The host contract whether it is a financial instrument or not, is recognized according to the related Statements of Financial Accounting Standards.

(9) Financial assets carried at cost

- A. Investment in or sale of unquoted equity instruments is recognized using trade date accounting and is accounted for initially at its fair value plus transaction costs that are directly attributable to the acquisition of the financial asset.
- B. If there is any objective evidence of impairment, the impairment loss is recognized. Such impairment loss shall not be reversed when the fair value of the asset subsequently increases.

(10) Debt instruments with non-active market

- A. Debt instruments with non-active market are accounted for using settlement date accounting. Such financial instruments are initially recognized at fair values plus acquisition or issuance costs.
- B. Debt instruments with non-active market shall be subsequently measured at amortized cost.
- C. If there is any objective evidence that the financial asset is impaired, the impairment loss is recognized in profit or loss. If, subsequently, the fair value of the asset increases and the increase can be objectively related to an event occurring after the impairment loss was recognized in profit or loss, the previously recognized impairment loss shall be reversed to the extent of the amount of the amortized cost that would have been recognized at the date the impairment is reversed.

(11) Bills and bonds under resale and repurchase agreements

Bills and bonds under resale or repurchase agreements are accounted for under the financing method. Bills and bonds sold under repurchase agreements are recorded as "Bills and bonds payable under repurchase agreements" at the sale date. Bills and bonds invested under resale agreements are recorded as "Investments in bills and bonds under resale agreements" at the purchase date. The difference between the cost and the repurchase price is recorded as interest expense between the sale date and the repurchase date. The difference between the cost and the resale price is recorded as interest income between the purchase date and the resale date.

(12) Loans and allowance for credit losses

- A. The credit period of short term loans is within one year, the credit period of medium term loans is one to seven years, and the credit period of long term loans is more than seven years. Loans with pledged assets are recorded as secured loans.
- B. All loans are recorded initially at the actual amount lent out and purchase price, and reported at their outstanding principal balances net of any allowance for credit losses. At the period end, an allowance for credit losses is determined by the evaluation of the collectibility of loans and age of receivables (including non-performing loans and interest receivables) according to the amended “Regulations Governing the Procedures for Banking Institutions to Evaluate Assets and Deal with Non-performing / Non-accrual Loans” and “Regulations Governing Institutions Engaging In Credit Card Business” of the MOF, and the doubtful accounts are written off when the possibility of recovery is remote.
- C. Principal or interest overdue over three months is categorized as non-performing loan. In addition, when principal or interest has not been paid for over six months, the said principal and interest are transferred to “non-accrual loans”. When this occurs, interest is calculated and booked only in the memo account.
- D. In accordance with the Article 11 of “Value-added and Non-value-added Business Tax Act”, the Bank should allocate 3% of sales for writing off non-performing loan or setting aside allowance for bad debts. The aforementioned allocation of 3% of sales should be stopped if the percentage of non-performing loan is lower than 1%. The aforementioned allowance is recognized under “provision for credit losses” and “Allowance for credit losses”.

(13) Long-term equity investments accounted for under the equity method

- A. Long-term equity investments in which the Bank owns at least 20% of the investees’ voting stock interests or exercises significant influence over the investees are accounted for under the equity method. Such equity investments are evaluated pursuant to the investment costs plus or minus the net income or loss and changes in stockholders’ equity of the investee recognized proportionally according to the percentage of the investee’s ownership held by the Bank. For stock dividends received from the distribution by the investees, the Bank does not need to increase the investment amount and recognize the investment income, but makes a memorandum entry to record additional shares that have been received.
- B. When the Bank disposes a long-term investment accounted for under the equity method, the difference between the cost and the selling price at the disposal date is recorded as gain (loss) on disposal of long-term equity investment. If there is any capital surplus arising from long-term investment under the equity method, such capital surplus is transferred to current income or loss in proportion to the percentage of disposal.
- C. In accordance with the amended Statement of Financial Accounting Standards (SFAS) No. 7 “Consolidated Financial Statements” in the Republic of China, the investees whose voting stock interests are more than 50% directly or indirectly held by the Company are included in the consolidated financial statements.

(14) Property, plant and equipment, and related depreciation

- A. Property, plant and equipment are stated at acquisition cost. Interest incurred on the loans used to bring the assets to the condition and location necessary for their intended uses are capitalized. Major renewals and betterments of fixed assets are capitalized, while maintenance and repairs are expensed.
- B. Apart from land, depreciation is calculated on a straight-line method based on the asset's estimated useful lives. In addition, the residual value may be depreciated over the estimated remaining useful life of the fixed assets. Gains or losses on the disposal of property and equipment are recorded as non-interest income or losses. The estimated useful lives of property, plant and equipment are listed as follows:

Buildings	3~55 years
Office equipment	3~5 years
Transportation equipment	3~5 years
Leasehold improvements	3~10 years
Other equipment	3~20 years

- C. Rents paid on capital leases are capitalized and depreciated accordingly. Any gain (loss) on the sale and leased back is capitalized and amortized over the lease terms. For sale and leased back assets, if the fair value is less than the book value, the difference is recognized in the profit or loss.

(15) Other asset – foreclosed assets

Foreclosed assets are recorded at acquisition costs and are assessed at the balance sheet date. If there is any evidence that shows that the net fair value is lower than carrying amount, the difference is recognized as impairment loss; if net fair value is higher than carrying amount, the previously recognized impairment loss can be reversed to the extent of the carrying amounts and recognized as recovery gain. Net gain (loss) on sale of foreclosed assets is recorded under other non-interest income (loss).

(16) Other assets – idle assets

The Bank adopted ROC SFAS No. 1 "Conceptual Framework for Financial Accounting and Preparation of Financial Statements", wherein the property, plant and equipment that are idle or have no value in use are reclassified to "other assets - idle assets" at original cost together with their respective accumulated depreciation and accumulated impairment. The idle assets are depreciated continuously. In accordance with ROC SFAS No. 35 "Impairment of Assets", the Bank evaluates impairment of the idle assets and performs the impairment test accordingly.

(17) Intangible assets – goodwill

Goodwill arose from in the acquisition of The Credit Cooperative of Douliou, The Credit Cooperative of Taidong, The Tainan Seventh Credit Cooperative, and The Tainan Sixth Credit Cooperative and is recognized at the purchase price less the fair value of tangible assets obtained. In accordance with ROC SFAS No. 35 "Impairment of Assets", the Bank shall evaluate impairment and perform the impairment test accordingly. The impairment loss recognized shall not be reversed. Starting from 2006, in accordance with the revised ROC SFAS No. 1 "Conceptual Framework for Financial Accounting and Preparation of Financial Statements", goodwill shall not be amortized.

(18) Other intangible assets

Computer software expenditures are stated at the acquisition cost and amortized over 3 to 5 years.

(19) Deferred expenses

Deferred expenses, mainly telecommunication system, renovation cost, computer network and CPU installation costs, are amortized on a straight-line basis over 3 to 5 years.

(20) Asset impairment

The Bank adopts ROC SFAS No. 35 "Impairment of Assets". In accordance with ROC SFAS No. 35, the Bank assesses on the balance sheet date whether there are any indications that assets (other than assets that are inapplicable and goodwill) may have been impaired. If such indications exist, the Bank estimates the recoverable amount of the assets (the higher of its fair value less costs to sell and its value in use). The Bank recognizes impairment losses for assets whose carrying values are higher than the recoverable amounts. The Bank assesses the goodwill of cash generating units on an annual basis and recognizes impairment losses for the excess of carrying value over the recoverable amount.

The Bank reverses impairment losses recognized in prior periods for assets other than goodwill if there are any indications that the impairment losses recognized no longer exist or have decreased. The carrying amount of an asset after the reversal of impairment loss should not exceed the carrying amounts of the asset that would have been determined net of depreciation or amortization had no impairment loss been recognized for the asset in prior years. However, impairment loss of goodwill is not recoverable.

(21) Financial debentures

Financial debentures are issued and stated at face values. The related interest expenses are calculated at face value multiplied by the stated interest rate every month. The annual fee paid to the Greta Securities Market is recognized as operating expense.

(22) Retirement plan

- A. The original employee retirement plan of the Bank was established in 1992 for the benefit of all eligible employees. Effective from May 1, 1997, such plan was modified in order to comply with the Labor Standards Law. Pension payments are computed based on employees' years of service and average monthly salaries for the last six months prior to retirement. Effectively July 1, 2005, the Bank established a funded defined contribution pension plan (the "New Plan") under the Labor Pension Act (the "Act"). Employees have the option to be covered under the New Plan. Under the New Plan, the Company contributes monthly an amount based on 6% of the employees' monthly salaries and wages to the employees' individual pension accounts at the Bureau of Labor Insurance. The amounts contributed are recognized as expenses.
- B. The year-end date is the measurement date of the actuarial report for the defined benefit plan. The minimum pension liability is recognized when the accumulated benefit obligation exceeds the fair value of pension plan assets. Under the defined contribution pension plan, net periodic pension cost are recognized as incurred, including service cost, amortization of net transition asset, prior service cost, and unrecognized pension gain or loss based on employees' average residual service years using the straight-line method. The minimum pension liability usually occurs due to the existence of unrecognized prior service cost and unrecognized transitional net assets or net benefit obligation. If the minimum pension liability does not exceed the sum of unrecognized prior service cost and unrecognized transitional net assets or net benefit obligation, then the deferred pension cost should be charged; otherwise, net loss not yet recognized as net pension cost should be charged. Deferred pension cost is classified in other assets; unrecognized pension cost is classified as the reduction of stockholders' equity.

(23) Other liability—securities trading loss reserve

- A. According to the Regulation Governing Securities Firms, if the profit for trading securities for its own account exceeds the amount of loss, 10% of the proportion in excess should be allocated on a monthly basis as the trading loss reserves. The trading loss reserve shall not be used except for the purpose of covering the amount of trading loss in excess of the amount of trading profit. When the accumulated amount of trading loss reserve reaches $200 million, allocation may be suspended. Such reserve can only be used to offset the losses from securities trading.
- B. The aforementioned trading loss reserve is recognized as other liability—reserve for securities trading loss reserve and other non-interest expense or income.

(24) Other liability—reserve for losses on guarantees

The reserve for losses on guarantees is determined by evaluating the potential losses on guarantees and commitments. The aforementioned reserve is recorded as other liability—reserve for losses on guarantees and non-interest expense or income.

(25) Income tax

- A. Income tax is estimated based on the accounting income. Deferred income tax is determined based on the differences between the tax basis of an asset or liability and its book value that will result in taxable or deductible amounts by using the enacted tax rate in future year when the recorded asset or liability is recovered or settled, respectively. The income tax effects attributable to temporary differences are recognized as deferred income tax liabilities. The income tax effects attributable to deductible temporary differences, loss carry forwards, and income tax credits are recognized as deferred income tax assets. The realization of deferred income tax assets is evaluated, and a valuation allowance is recognized accordingly.
- B. The 10% surtax on undistributed earnings, computed according to the ROC Income Tax Act, is accounted for as income tax expense in the year of earnings distribution based on the resolution of the shareholders.
- C. In accordance with the Article 49 of the Financial Holding Company Act, Yuanta Financial Holdings, the parent company of the Bank and the taxpayer, has adopted the consolidated income tax return system for income tax filings and 10% surtax on undistributed earnings from 2003 with its qualified subsidiaries, including the Bank. When the Bank prepares its financial statements, the Bank accounts for its income tax in conformity with ROC SFAS No. 22 "Income Taxes". However, the Bank also adjusts the income tax in a reasonable and systematic way to reflect the differences under filing a consolidated income tax return system with Yuanta Financial Holding, the taxpayer. The adjustments resulting from filing a consolidated income tax return system are recorded under receivable from (payable to) related parties.
- D. Effective on January 1, 2006, in accordance with the Alternative Minimum Tax Act, the Bank calculates the alternative minimum tax in addition to the regular income tax. If the regular income tax is lower than the alternative minimum tax, the difference is accrued as an income tax adjustment.

- E. When a change in the tax laws is enacted, the deferred tax liability or asset should be recomputed accordingly in the period of change. The difference between the new amount and the original amount, that is, the effect of changes in the deferred tax liability or asset, should be recognized as an adjustment to income tax expense (benefit) for income from continuing operations in the current period.
- F. Investment tax credits arising from expenditures on employees' training are recognized in the period when the related expenditures are incurred.

(26) Employees' bonuses and directors' and supervisors' remuneration

Effective January 1, 2009, the Bank adopted R.O.C. SFAS No. 39, "Accounting for Share-based Payment" and EITF 96-052 of the Accounting Research and Development Foundation, R.O.C. "Accounting for Employees' Bonuses and Directors' and Supervisors' Remuneration", the costs of employees' bonuses and directors' and supervisors' remuneration are accounted for as expenses and liabilities, provided that such recognition is required under legal or constructive obligation and the amounts can be estimated reasonably. However, if the accrued amounts for employees' bonuses and directors' and supervisors' remuneration are significantly different from the actual distributed amounts resolved by the stockholders at their annual stockholders' meeting subsequently, the differences shall be recognized as gain or loss in the following year.

(27) Recognition of interest income

Revenues are recognized on the accrual basis when the earning process is substantially completed and are realized or realizable. Costs and expenses are recognized as incurred.

(28) Use of estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts of assets and liabilities and the disclosures of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those assumptions and estimates.

(29) Contingency loss

If from the circumstances, it is probable that an asset has been impaired or a liability has been incurred by the date of the financial statements; and the amount of loss can be reasonably estimated, a loss should be recognized. If the loss cannot be reasonable estimated, the estimate amount of loss should be disclosed in the notes to the financial statements.

(30) Earnings per share

Earnings per share is computed by dividing the amount of net income (or loss) attributable to common stock by the weighted average shares of common stock outstanding. Treasury stock reduces the shares of outstanding common stock. The increase of shares by stock dividends from retained earnings or capital surplus and the decrease of shares due to capital reduction are adjusted retroactively to calculate EPS. Furthermore, if the record dates for stock dividends or capital reduction occur before the issuance of the financial statements, the earnings/loss per share are adjusted retroactively. The increase of capital through cash infusion should be computed based on its outstanding period.

III. Changes in accounting principles

- (1) Effective January 1, 2008, the Bank adopted R.O.C. SFAS No. 39, “Accounting for Share-based Payment” and EITF 2008-052 of the Accounting Research and Development Foundation, R.O.C. “Accounting for Employees’ Bonuses and Directors’ and Supervisors’ Remuneration”. Such changes in accounting principles had no significant effect on the Bank’s financial statements as of and for the year ended December 31, 2008.
- (2) Effective from July 1, 2008, the Bank remeasured and reclassified partial stocks listed on TSE or OTC originally classified as at fair value through profit or loss to available-for-sale financial assets in accordance with the Paragraph No. 104 of the revised statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 34 “Financial Instruments: Recognition and Measurement”. As a result of the adoption of this standard, net loss decreased by $93,113 and loss per share decreased by $0.05 for the year ended December 31, 2008.

(21) Capital surplus

According to the ROC Company Act, realized capital surplus can be capitalized and transferred to share capital after offsetting accumulated deficit. Capital surplus should not be used for distribution of cash dividends. Realized capital surplus mentioned above includes the proceeds received in excess of the par value of common stock issued and amounts donated to the Bank. The amount of capital surplus capitalized each year shall not exceed a certain percentage of the Bank’s issued share capital. Capital surplus from issuance of new share in excess of par value of common stock can be made only once per year, and cannot be capitalized in the same year of issuance of new shares.

(22) Legal reserve and appropriated special reserve

The Bank's Articles of Incorporation provides that the Bank may declare dividends after all tax payments and appropriation of 30% of remaining earnings as legal reserve. The Bank cannot distribute cash dividends exceeding 15% of total share capital until legal reserve reaches the amount equal to total share capital. Given that legal reserve reaches the amount equal to total share capital, or meets the soundness criteria of financial activities stipulated by the competent authorities and provides legal reserve pursuant to the Company Act, the Bank is not subject to the aforesaid regulations. In addition, apart from the appropriation of legal reserve, the Bank can also appropriate special reserve according to the resolution of the shareholders.

(23) Unappropriated earnings (accumulated deficit) and dividend policy

A. According to the Bank's Articles of Incorporation, the current year's earnings, if any, shall first be used to offset prior year's operating loss and pay all taxes, and 30% of the remaining amount should then be set aside as legal reserve and special reserve in accordance with provisions under the applicable laws and regulations. The remaining earnings are then distributed as follows: (1) 0.5% ~ 1% as directors' and supervisors' bonus (2) 0.5% ~ 1% as employees' bonus (3) the remaining earnings are subject to the Board of Directors' decision to propose a distribution plan and to be submitted to the Ordinary Stockholders' Meeting for approved.

B. The Bank's Board of Directors acting on behalf of the stockholders resolved to amend the Bank's Articles on November 5, 2009, as follows: the current year's earnings, if any, shall first be used to offset prior year's operating loss and pay all taxes, and 30% of the remaining amount should then be set aside as legal reserve and special reserve in accordance with provisions under the applicable laws and regulations. The remaining earnings are then distributed as follows: (1) 0.5% ~ 1% as employees' bonus (2) the remaining earnings are subject to the Board of Directors' decision to propose a distribution plan and to submit to the Ordinary Stockholders' Meeting.

In order to continuously expand its operations, increase earning capacity, and to maintain the capital adequacy ratio, the Bank has adopted the residual dividend policy. The ratio between cash dividends and stock dividends distributed is determined by the resolution of the Board of Directors in consideration of the related industry condition, market perceptions, and the Bank's business strategies. During the growing period of the Bank, in principle, stock dividends distributed shall not be lower than 80% unless changed by the Board of Directors as deemed necessary. Cash dividends shall be distributed after the distribution of earnings proposal is resolved by the stockholders, while stock dividends are distributed after obtaining approval documents from the supervising authority.

For information on the appropriation of the Bank's earning as resolved by the Board of Directors, please refer to the "Market Observation Post System" at the website of the Taiwan Stock Exchange.

F. The estimated amount of $1,557 for employees' bonuses is based on the ratio stipulated in the Bank's Articles of Incorporation of net income after taking into account of tax and legal reserve and recognized as operating expense for the year ended December 31, 2009. However, if the estimated amounts for employees' bonuses are significantly different from the actual distributed amounts resolved by the Bank's Board of Directors acting on behalf of the stockholders subsequently, the differences shall be recognized as gain or loss in the following year.

As of December 31, 2009, the Bank's annual income tax returns through 2005 have been assessed by the Tax Authority. For the Bank's annual income tax returns for 2003 to 2005, the previous trader taxes were assessed to be $127,759, which has been settled as 65% of the withholding tax based on the TNTA's (Taipei National Tax Administration) settlement conditions. The Bank adjusted the income tax expense for appropriate accounting treatment.

The Bank's 10% surtax on unappropriated earnings for the year 1998 has been assessed by the Tax Authority and the ROC Tax Authority determined that the unrealized exchange gains from 1997 accounted for as taxable income in 1998 cannot offset unappropriated earnings in 1998. However, the Bank petitioned for a recheck of the above and won the lawsuit on July 17, 2008. The National Tax Administration of Central Taiwan Province has completed the re-assessment and refunded the tax payment on May 5, 2008.

The Bank's income tax returns for 2003, 2004 and 2005 had been assessed by the Tax Authority on December 12, 2006, May 15, 2009 and July 15, 2009, respectively. The Bank disagreed with the assessment about the amortization on goodwill and bond investments and filed appeals for reconsiderations of the assessments in March 2008, July 2009 and October 2009, respectively.

- B. The following methods and assumptions were used to estimate the fair value of each class of financial instruments:
- a. The book values of the financial instruments which have a short maturity period are considered as their fair value. This assumption is used in evaluating the following accounts: cash and cash equivalents, due from Central Bank and call loans to banks, investments in bills and bonds under resale agreements, receivables, refundable deposit-out, other financial assets (excluding financial assets carried at costs and debt investments with non-active market), due to Central Bank and other banks, bills and bonds payable under repurchase agreements, payables, refundable deposits-in, financial debentures (excluding designated financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss), other financial liabilities and other payables.
 - b. If financial assets at fair value through profit or loss, available-for-sale financial assets and held-to-maturity financial assets have quoted prices in an active market, the quoted prices are regarded as fair values. If there is no quoted market price for reference, a valuation technique will be adopted to measure the fair value. The estimations and assumptions of the valuation technique are consistent with those used by market participants for the pricing of financial instruments. The discounted rates used are consistent with the expected rates of returns of financial instruments with the same terms and conditions. The terms and conditions include debtor's credit rating, the remaining period of the fixed interest rate contract, the remaining period for principal repayment, and the currency paid, etc.
Among the derivative financial instruments, exchange rate options are valued by the Black-Scholes model; stock options embedded in convertible bonds and interest rate swaps are evaluated by the quotes of the Bloomberg system; forward contracts, interest rate swaps and currency swaps are evaluated by discounting future cash flows using exchange rates from the Bloomberg system.
 - c. Since bills discounted and loans are interest-earning assets, the fair values of bills discounted and loans are their book values.
 - d. Other financial assets: If there are transaction prices or quoted market prices for debt instruments with non-active market, the fair values of such debt instruments will be determined by the latest actual transaction prices or quoted market prices. Moreover, if there is no quoted market price for reference, a valuation technique will be adopted to measure the fair value by discounting future cash flows.
 - e. Deposits and remittances are financial liabilities bearing interests; therefore, the book values approximate the fair values.
 - f. The fair value measurement is not applicable to equity investments accounted for under the equity method. In addition, there is no quoted market price in an active market for the unlisted stocks under financial assets carried at cost, and the variances in the range of reasonable fair value estimates is significant and their probability of the various estimates within the range cannot be reasonably assessed, so the fair value of the unlisted stocks cannot be reliably measured. As a result, information of the book value and the fair value with respect to these financial assets is not disclosed.
- C. The Bank has recognized net profits on changes in fair value arising from valuation technique amounting to $568,017 and $203,845 for the years ended December 31, 2009 and 2008, respectively.

D. As of December 31, 2009 and 2008, the Bank had financial assets with fair value risk arising from interest rate changes amounting to $125,228,813 and $131,230,164, respectively.

E. As of December 31, 2009 and 2008, the Bank had financial assets with cash flow risk arising from interest rate changes amounting to $210,504,109 and $216,736,275, respectively.

F. For the years ended December 31, 2009 and 2008, total interest income for financial assets or financial liabilities that are not at fair value through profit or loss amounted to $6,048,323 and $10,110,975, respectively; total interest expense on financial assets or financial liabilities that are not at fair value through profit or loss amounted to $2,444,828 and $5,777,234, respectively. For available-for-sale financial assets, gains recognized directly in equity were $663,195 and $52,739, and the amounts removed from equity and recognized in profit or loss were $185,831 and $7,185 during the years ended December 31, 2009 and 2008, respectively. Adjustments from available-for-sale financial assets accounted for under the equity method were $2,817 and $2,816 for the years ended December 31, 2009 and 2008, respectively.

G. Risk management and hedging strategy (including financial hedge)

a. The Bank engages in risk management and hedge under the principles of not only serving customers but also conforming to the Bank's operational goals, overall risk tolerance limit, and legal compliance to achieve risk diversification, risk transfer, and risk avoidance, and, moreover, to maximize the benefits of customers, shareholders, and employees. The Bank mainly faces the credit risk, market risk (including the interest rate, foreign exchange rate, equity securities, and instrument risk), operation risk, and liquidity risk regardless whether those risks are on or off balance sheets.

b. The Bank's Board of Directors has the ultimate approval right in risk management. Major risk control items which include the bank-wide risk management policy, risk tolerance limit, and authority must be approved by the Board of Directors. The Bank has set up a risk management committee, which is responsible to review, supervise, report, and coordinate bank-wide risk management.

c. The goal of market risk (interest rate risk) management of the Bank is to achieve optimal risk position, maintain proper liquidity position, and manage all market risk as a whole by considering the economic environment, competition condition, market value risk, and impact on net interest income. In order to achieve this risk management goal, the hedge activities of the Bank were concentrated on risk transfer and risk management of net interest income and market value risk. The Bank sets the strategy of fair value hedge of interest rate exposures according to the fund transfer pricing principle. The Bank primarily uses interest rate swaps for financial hedge purpose, and also to hedge interest rate exposures of certain fixed-rate loans and fixed-rate liabilities.

H. Financial risk information

To build a good risk management system and improve business development, the Bank established a risk management policy to achieve operation goals and to increase stockholders' values. The risk management policy approved by the Board of Directors is to fulfill the implementation of the risk control system and to create stable and high-quality profits for stockholders.

The Bank follows the risk management policy and strives to quantify, assess, and manage risks for risk pricing and to obtain the optimal capital allocation.

The Bank conducts cautious credit assessments before providing loans, loan commitments, and guarantees. Loans with collateral amounted to 66.25% of the total loans in 2009. In order to obtain credit lines from the Bank, borrowers and guarantors are asked to provide collaterals such as cash, real estate, marketable securities, and other assets. Furthermore, in order to reduce credit risk, the Bank follows credit policies and negotiates credit limits with counterparties. In addition, the Bank may sign master netting agreements with the counterparty to reduce credit risk.

Concentration of credit risk refers to the significant concentration of credit risks from all financial instruments, whether the risks are from an individual counterparty or a group of counterparties. Group concentration of credit risks exists if a number of counterparties are engaged in similar activities or activities in the same region, or have similar economic characteristics that would cause their abilities to fulfill contractual obligations simultaneously affected by changes in economic or other conditions. There was no significant concentration of credit risk from counterparties of the Bank. The related information can be found as follows:

c. Liquidity risk

Liquidity risks include market liquidity risk and capital liquidity risk. Market liquidity risk is the risk that market prices may encounter obvious changes due to market disorder. Capital liquidity risk is the risk that payment obligations cannot be fulfilled due to inability to convert assets into cash or acquire enough cash. The Bank made related regulations for various funding demands to control overall market liquidity risks. The treasury department of the Bank manages daily funding and responds to funding demands for various situations or events that may cause systematic risk.

To control risk effectively, support and respect from senior management are essential in addition to the factors mentioned above. With full support and authorization of the management, the risk management system of the Bank has been established. It has gradually improved management efficiency and performance.

The Bank controls the transaction risks of the financial instruments by adopting the credit approval policy, setting position limitation and stop loss point, and implementing management control processes. In addition, the Bank maintains adequate current assets, and utilizes money market and foreign exchange market instruments to support its future cash flow requirements.

The liquidity reserve ratio for the Bank was 28.3% and 26.8% for the years ended December 31, 2009 and 2008, respectively. In addition, the Bank's capital and working capital were sufficient to fulfill all obligations. Thus, there was no material liquidity risk that could prevent the Bank from meeting the obligation.

d. Cash flow risk and fair value risk arising from changes in interest rates

Cash flow risk arising from changes in interest rates for future cash flows of floating rate assets and liabilities held by the Bank may fluctuate due to changes in interest rates. Thus, the Bank has entered into the interest rate swap contract after consideration of risk level and operation requirements to mitigate such risk.

i. Expected repricing date or expected maturity date

As of December 31, 2009 and 2008, the expected repricing date or expected maturity date were not affected by the contract date.
